ARITCO DESIGN CONCEPT

Design concept Berlin

by Alexander Lervik

Berlin is a dynamic city in Europa with a rich history and thriving art and design scene. It´s known for its creativity, alternative culture and innovative architecture.

Berlin is for me the Cultural capital of Germany. Is the city in the world that offers the greatest contrasts in its urban environment. From the exclusive streets with well-kept houses to the run-down streets with plaster falling off the houses. And in the middle of all this an explosion of culture, life and creativity. These variations inspired to the pattern for the Berlin DesignWall and to the concrete pattern on the DesignPanels.

Aritco HomeLift DESIGN CONCEPT

Background

The Aritco HomeLift was launch 2016 and was the first of its kind. With its strong characteristics based on the Scandinavian design values, with open glass shaft and clean lines, it started a new era within home lift industry. Today Aritco is one of the leading brands and the category of home lifts are shaped by the look that Aritco once created.

Aritco is now launching a new series of features for customization possibilities. Enhancing the possibilities for owners to create that special look that fits their homes perfectly, Aritco gives you an opportunity to apply any picture or pattern that you want for the DesignWall, choose among more flooring options, covering panels patterns and colors of the lift. Hard to choose yourself? Check in one of our four to be launched concepts, designed by Alexander Lervik.
