ARITCO DESIGN CONCEPT

Design concept Shanghai

by Alexander Lervik

Shanghai is a vibrant city in China that combines traditional Chinese culture with modernity. It´s known for its sky-scrapers, futuristic architecture, and vibrant street life.

My first visit in Shanghai inspired me to the pattern for the Shanghai DesignWall. The city has all these fantastic patterns in houses, street windows and you find new ones wherever you go. The brown-bronze color scale is also reflected in the overall color scheme of the lift.

Aritco HomeLift DESIGN CONCEPT

Background

The Aritco HomeLift was launch 2016 and was the first of its kind. With its strong characteristics based on the Scandinavian design values, with open glass shaft and clean lines, it started a new era within home lift industry. Today Aritco is one of the leading brands and the category of home lifts are shaped by the look that Aritco once created.

Aritco is now launching a new series of features for customization possibilities. Enhancing the possibilities for owners to create that special look that fits their homes perfectly, Aritco gives you an opportunity to apply any picture or pattern that you want for the DesignWall, choose among more flooring options, covering panels patterns and colors of the lift. Hard to choose yourself? Check in one of our four to be launched concepts, designed by Alexander Lervik.
